I find it appropriate to announce in the inaugural issue of our newsletter "The Guardian" that as of January 18th the new name of our credit union is Ocean Financial Federal Credit Union with the tag line "Catholic Values You Can Bank On."

Although our name has change we are still your Catholic credit union. You still have to be Catholic to become a member. This requirement continues to differentiate us from every other financial institution and we are quite proud of it.

So why the change? We are a financially sound, growing, and profitable organization. It was not an easy decision yet one we felt was necessary to ensure the prosperity of our Credit Union for many years to come. More than a year ago we conducted focus groups to learn more about our member's opinion of our Credit Union and also non- members awareness of us. Most people had no idea who Oceanside Christopher was and others thought you had to live in Oceanside to become a member. It was decided our name and tag line needed to reflect that we are a Catholic financial institution that stands ready to provide service to all Catholics everywhere.

For many of us (including yours truly) sun setting the name Oceanside Christopher after 48 years is hard. I have worked for Oceanside Christopher as a volunteer and Pres/CEO for 31 years. My father founded our Credit Union and like many of you it has been an important part of our lives. We have taken great pride watching our credit union evolve from nine original members to a $320 million full-service institution with over 14,000 members. As we embark upon our new journey I have confidence we will be equally proud of Ocean Financial.

A new name is not my only announcement; I also want you to know we have upgraded all our electronic services. Online Banking, Bill Payer and Mobile Banking are much more user friendly, I encourage you to see for yourself how convenient they now are. We are also offering free checks now with our already great checking product and will be lowering the rate on everyone's visa card during the first quarter of 2017.

Our website is brand new. Anyone who wants to support a member owned Catholic financial institution as opposed to a big bank should go to www.OceanFinancial.org and become a member, it only takes a few minutes and we make the first deposit for you. Our credit union has over 60 shared banking outlets on Long Island if you prefer walk in transactions.

As you can see we have been working hard on your behalf.

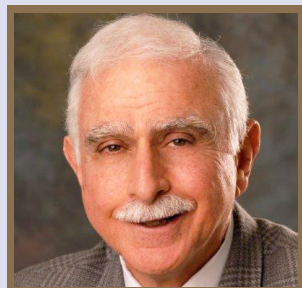

"Catholic Values You Can Bank On" is not just our new tag line. Love and sacrifice are values that guide everyone, every day at our credit union. As a Catholic organization we hold ourselves to a higher standard. We will be "spreading the love" now more than ever, I think you'll feel it.

Sincerely,

Joseph Garay, President/CEO

Hurricane Sandy Still Affecting our Members

JOSEPH GARAY & GAIL CAMBARERI BY HER RENOVATED HOME

All Long Islanders remember where they were on October 29, 2012 during Hurricane Sandy.

"I was in my unfinished attic with my son and three dogs watching as my home was destroyed," Gail Cambareri recalls.

Gail hired a contractor; a contractor who started the work and left one day never to return, with the job unfinished. Gail was financially drained, having used all her savings and 401k. "I lost my job of seven years because I was taking too much time off for house repairs."

Gail turned to her credit union.

She, along with Joseph Garay, President/CEO of Ocean Financial, met with a new contractor. "It got personal for me," said Garay, "Many of our members are still living with Superstorm Sandy."

"If not for the credit union, I still wouldn't be living in my house. I was living with friends, relatives, in a trailer, in a hotel. I moved six times before I was able to come home," stated Gail. "I am very thankful."
